The property consists of three standalone villas designed for private residential use. The project comprises three independent villas, designed as private family homes. The limited scale of the development supports privacy and a sense of independence..

Each villa features four bedrooms and is arranged over several levels, allowing for a clear separation between living and private areas. The main living space connects directly with the outdoor areas, while upper levels provide more secluded zones for rest and privacy. A rooftop solarium adds an additional outdoor space that can be adapted to individual needs.

Large windows ensure good natural light throughout the interiors and open the homes towards the surrounding landscape and sea views. Outdoor areas include private gardens and swimming pools, designed as functional extensions of the living space rather than purely visual features.

The villas are equipped with practical solutions intended for year-round living, including a lift connecting most floors, underfloor heating in the main areas and individually controlled air conditioning. These elements support everyday comfort and long-term usability.

This offering is well suited to buyers looking for a private villa with outdoor space and sea views, within an established residential setting that allows easy access to the wider Costa del Sol lifestyle.
